

Are you ready to make the MOVE?

At Bull, we've spent over 40 years providing companies just like yours with data migration services, including major data migrations from both DB2 and Oracle to PostgreSQL. Over that time, we've helped organizations cut their costs while improving efficiency. That's why we created our latest set of products and services.

If you are paying high licensing and maintenance costs...
If you are wondering how to derive maximum value from your legacy systems...
If you want to open your enterprise data to the cloud, virtualized environments and mobile devices...

It's time to MOVE IT™.

Modernize, Optimize, Virtualize and Economize Information Technology

Bull now offers a full range of services including database migrations, advanced transaction processing and training & support. We developed MOVE IT enterprise solutions to help organizations reduce costs while opening enterprise data to cloud, mobile devices and virtualized environments.

Our enterprise solutions specifically support:

1. Database Migrations: We can help you seamlessly migrate your legacy or other relational database to PostgreSQL, the world's most advanced open source database. Our services include consulting, implementation and optimization services for both infrastructure and applications.
2. LiberTP Transaction Processing: Our next generation transaction processor enables easy porting of older UNIX-based COBOL and C transaction processing applications to an open environment.
3. Training & Support: Our support services include PostgreSQL support subscriptions; database design and build assessments; database performance and tuning services; and forms and reports migration services.

MOVE IT products and services can work effectively standalone by solving specific challenges or work together to seamlessly provide enterprise IT clients with multiple benefits. Whether you manage work internally or outsource, MOVE IT services and software can free you from high licensing and maintenance costs while flourishing in competitive business environments.
